Winner – Employment & Labour, Norway

Lars Kokkvold is a partner in the firm's human resources business area and a member of the employment law practice group, which comprises 16 lawyers. Mr Kokkvold works for clients across a range of industries and is considered by peers and clients as the go-to lawyer in Norway for his particular knowledge of employment-related issues.

Mr Kokkvold has considerable experience in assisting companies with employment-related issues both in Norway and abroad. Over the last few years he has primarily focused on restructurings, change of positions and redundancies; transfers of undertakings and outsourcing; individual employment security (dismissals with notice, immediate dismissals, temporary redundancies, suspensions and change of positions); protection of privacy; employment contracts and benefit schemes; and continuous follow-up on employees during employment.

Mr Kokkvold has been named in Chambers & Partners and Legal 500 as one of the leading lawyers in Norway within the fields of employment law and human resources.

Haavind is a leading player in the Norwegian market and a full-service law firm. The company numbers 150 employees in total. Haavind's history stretches back to the end of the 19th century. Since then, the firm has been through many extensive changes and implemented a number of processes for market and organizational development. The overall objective has been to develop the business in order to serve the client better, be even more client oriented and thus provide better solutions to its clients.
